Dedication

With a sense of respect, the corps of cadets dedicates this yearbook, constituting a review of the 1959-60 year, to our president and headmaster, Samuel E. West, who in his first year as head of the school, has contributed valuably to the welfare of the school community. Assuming the presidency at a time when Kemper was moving into a period of transition following the re-organization of its corporate structure and in looking toward a program of development, President West is guiding the school with an insight that will insure the continued growth and progress of an institution that has gone forward for 116 years.

Our gratitude, however, extends beyond appreciation for the hours of diligent work by the president in promoting the best interests of Kemper as a leading independent educational institution - it embraces a more personal nature - the wholehearted concern he has shown for each of us - as individuals. A former Kemper cadet, who moved up the ranks from "new boy" to cadet officer and with a decade of previous experience in a boys' school, President West readily understands our problems - our anxieties. More importantly, he is interested in helping us, individually, to meet and overcome obstacles and difficulties, in challenging us to accept the advantages offered in the varied phases of the Kemper program, and in instilling in us the principles, high morals, and attitudes, necessary in learning to live with ourselves, with others, and in leading purposeful lives.

THE BRACER STAFF

The attractively redecorated mess hall includes two elevated tables in the center portion, each representing a new arrangement for special seating this year. With the president at his table are seated the commandant, the cadet battle group commander, and his adjutant, plus an additional administrative officer and two masters assigned to mess hall responsibility. At the second elevated table are seated additional members of the official and the cadet staff plus school guests. Behind the president's table three flags are placed: an American flag which has flown over the U.S. capitol building, the Kemper corps of cadets flag - both hung on the wall; also, on a standard behind the president's chair is the universal Christian flag.

Winter artistry is in evidence as the lighting at the school entrance casts a glistening effect upon the snow during the still of a cold January night.

Prompt and courteous service is received in the quartermaster store, where cadets may choose from a wide selection in equipment, supply, and gift needs. Mrs. Norman Floyd waits on Cadet McKelvey at left. In center, Mrs. Homer Cook assists Cadet Rogers, and at right Cadet Pospisil is being helped by Mrs. Eugene Bowman. The store was recently renovated, providing a more convenient and attractive arrangement.

View Section

Kemper's well equipped, well-staffed, and modern health center provides the best in medical care.

A view of the campus and buildings from the south lawn following one of the winter's heavy snows.

Mr. Reichel supervises cadets using the library during evening study. Kemper's library provides unlimited opportunities both for class study and for recreational reading.

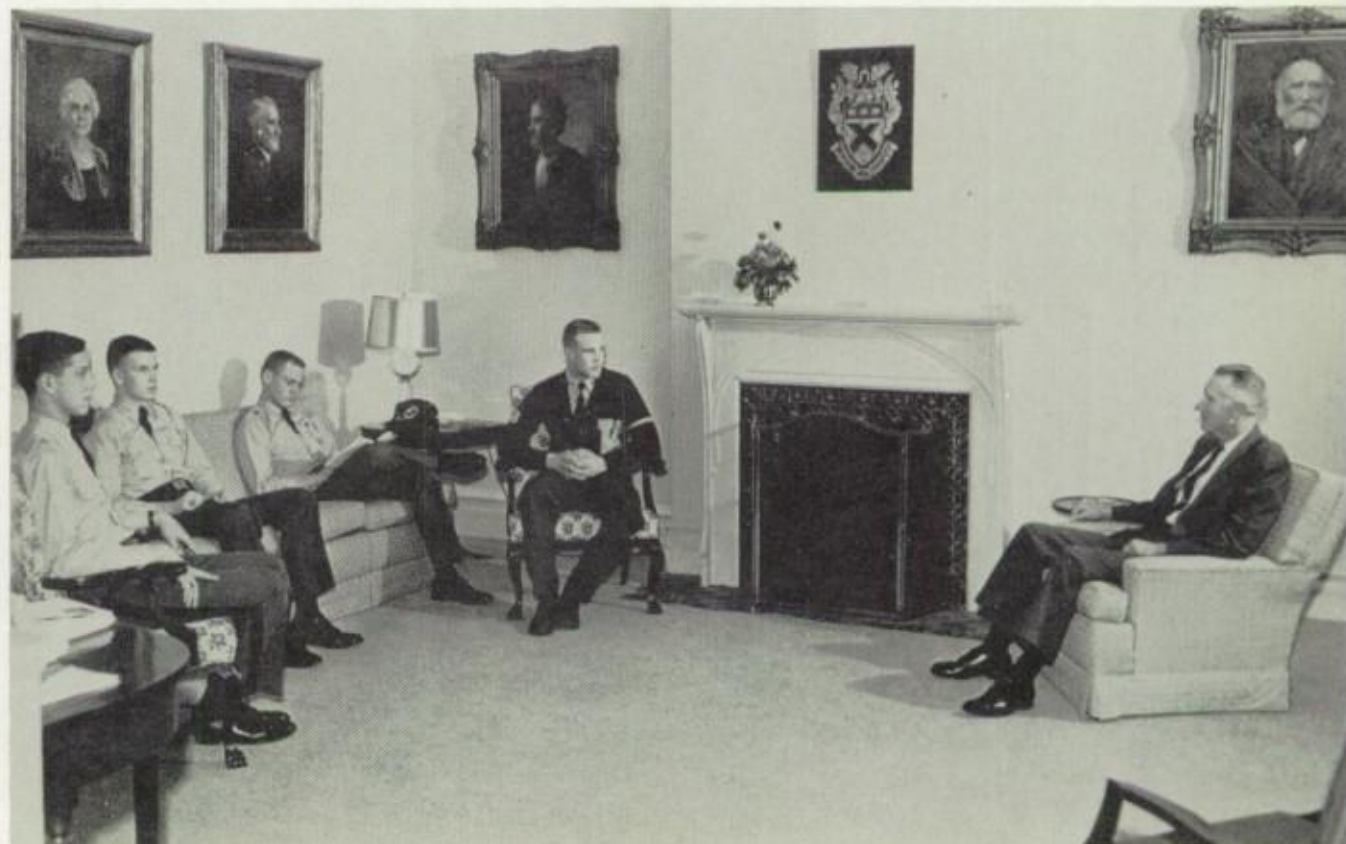

A view of the school from the north parade grounds. One of the oldest military schools west of the Mississippi River, Kemper was founded May 8, 1844, and has been in continuous existence since. The school is the sole survivor of some 40 private schools that have been started in Boonville - Few schools can boast of so many years of achievement and richness in tradition.

A serene atmosphere prevails over the south campus during the calm of a late afternoon.

Flag lowering during retreat formation

Relaxing in an informal discussion with Kemper master Buel T. Johnson in the president's reception room are Capt. Victor, Capt. Eaves, Capt. Rehklau, and Cadet Fischer. Portraits of former presidents and wives are on the walls of the recently remodeled room. On the wall at left are portraits of Col. and Mrs. T. A. Johnston and at right are paintings of Prof. and Mrs. Frederick T. Kemper. Above the fireplace mantle may be seen the Kemper crest.

Maj. Timberlake and Lt. Col. Bogard award certificates of honorary membership in the 4th Medium Tank Battalion in one of many award ceremonies conducted during the formal Sunday corps dress parade.

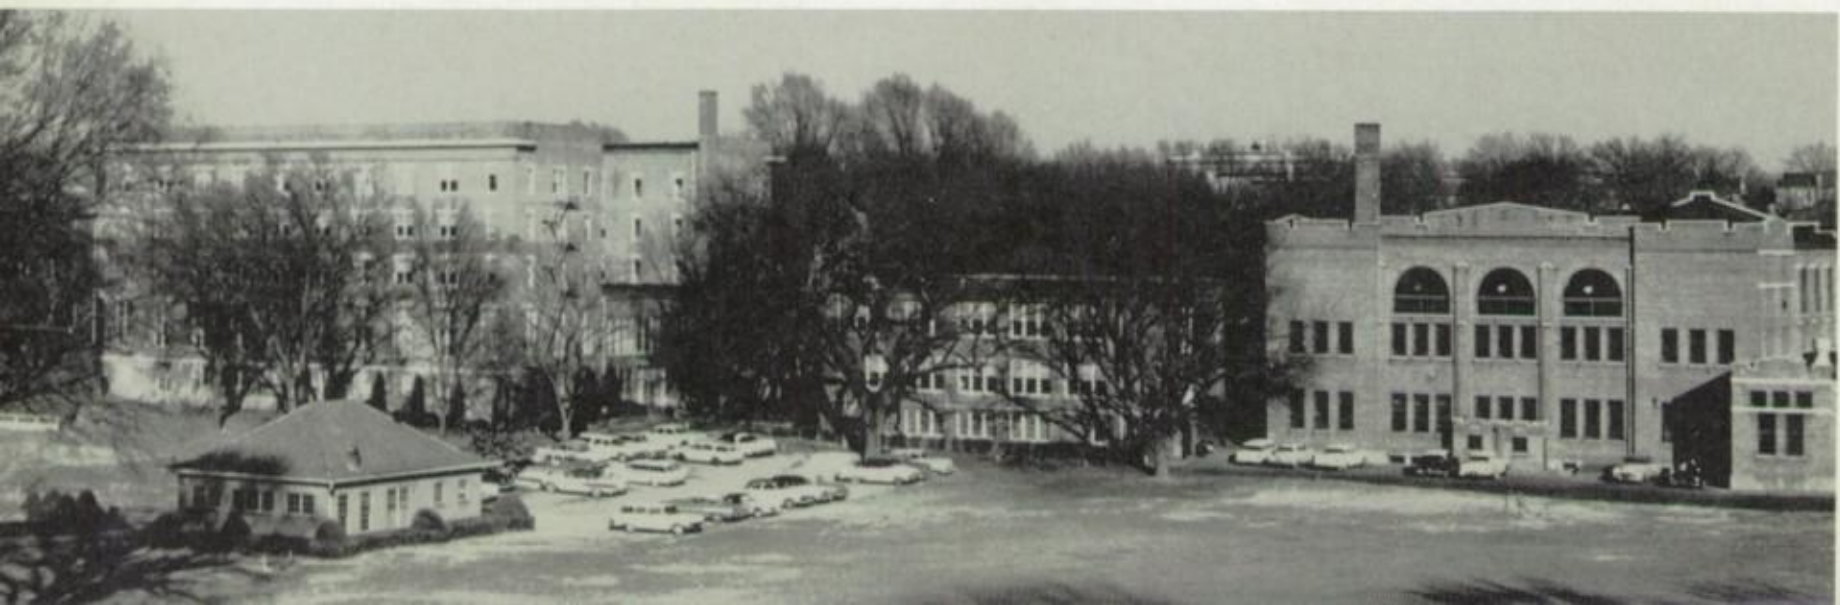

One of the largest and most adequate gymnasiums in the country, the Johnston Field House is used for numerous social and military functions throughout the year in addition to accommodating a wide variety of athletic events. A modern swimming pool is in the annex.

Leisure activities in the cadet clubroom, a popular spot on the campus, include a visit to the snack bar, a game of pool, listening to the latest selections on the juke box, watching television, and relaxing in general.

A glimpse of the school from the parade ground hill - Kemper has been designated an honor school every year since 1914 when the rating was established.

ADMINISTRATION

THE REV. SAMUEL E. WEST
President and Headmaster

COLONEL HARRIS C. JOHNSTON
President Emeritus

President West talks to members of staff and cadets in one of numerous conferences in his office. On the wall are oil portraits of the late Col. A.M. Hitch, superintendent when President West was a cadet in 1933-36, and Mrs. Hitch.

(Mr. Shaw, President West, Cadet Lt. Beelendorf, Maj. Timberlake, Mr. Eder, Cadet Clark).

Drum and Bugle Corps

Marching Band

A highlighting event for the marching band this year was its selection as honor and lead band for the Greater St. Louis Armed Forces Day celebration, May 21. The band numbering 57 represents 11 states and two foreign countries. Throughout the school year the band has provided music for the regular Sunday afternoon parade and reviews, as well as school athletic events. Among other programs, the band participated in the American Royal parade in Kansas City and played for the Parade of Youth celebration at Whiteman A.F.B.

The Kemper Guardsmen

The school's special drill platoon, noted for its precision marching and fancy step maneuvering, was a big attraction for visitors in several programs at the school this year. Performing at homecoming, parents' weekend, and on other occasions, the members are distinguished by wearing the blue citation cord, officer type two-tone cap with white cord around the border, jump boots with white shoe laces, white belts, white gloves, and distinctive patches on the Class A uniform. Lt. G. O. Nelson (center front) is leader of the platoon, and Sgt. Nichols at right is supervisor. Members are: FRONT ROW: Left to Right, Cruz Horta, Wiese, Horswell, Landsman, Kampmeier, Payne, J. J. Walker, Cowgill, Humphrey. SECOND ROW: R. H. Black, Armstrong, Horton, Polk, Boughton, Franks, J. R. Kester. THIRD ROW: C. I. Wood, Walk, S. A. Black, Agent, Roth, Sprinkle, R. P. Fritz. FOURTH ROW: Ellward, Casey, Howard, R. L. Godzwon, Kempner, Litt, Seki.

ACTIVITIES

The Royal Court - Miss Jane Ellen Regan, Peoria, Ill., beams after being crowned the Kemper School 1959 homecoming queen. She carries a bouquet presented by the school. Miss Regan, sister of Cadet Regan, was proudly escorted by Cadet Lilley. At left is Miss Becky Walker, El Dorado, Ark., sponsored by Cadet Flick, and at right is Miss Judy Johnston, sister of Cadet G. D. Johnston, escorted by Maj. Fivian. Miss Walker and Miss Johnston were presented as the queen's attendants.

School heads and team captains from Kemper and Wentworth exchange greetings immediately before kick-off of the Kemper-Wentworth homecoming grid contest. From left to right: O. Wilson, Kemper co-captain; President West, Flick, Kemper co-captain; Col. J. M. Sellers, Wentworth, and S. Wilson, captain of the Wentworth team.

Company A's homecoming display on the south lawn, a miniature football field, complete with Yellowjacket and Dragon players, won the school decoration contest.

Cheerleaders Zempel, Charleville, and George enthusiastically lead the corps in some spirited cheers in a pep rally and bonfire prior to the homecoming game.

The strength of a small Yellowjacket overpowers the large Dragon in the Company C decoration scheme on the front of D Barracks.

The queen receives a rhinestone tiara in a ceremony at the homecoming dance. The attendants each received a sterling spoon with the Kemper crest on it. Maj. Byers (behind microphone), K club president, presided at the ceremony. Don Glasser, band leader, is seen at extreme right.

Highlights of Gala Weekend

Government inspectors meet the battle group staff, as Lt. Col. Robert E. Burt, of the University of Illinois, chief of the inspecting team, shakes hands with Lt. Col. Bogard, battle group commander. Others from left to right: Maj. Fivian, Lt. Neumann, Lt. Fritz, Capt. Duggins, assistant PMS. Maj. Richard V. Klusky, Southwest Missouri State College, Springfield, a member of the team, and Maj. Timberlake, PMS.

Lt. Reppert efficiently reports his division in Company C, as the inspecting party enters. From left to right: Capt. Eaves, Lt. Col. Bogard, Col. Burt, Maj. Timberlake.

46th Annual Government Inspection April 9

Honor School continuously since 1914 - and for the 47th consecutive year hard work and superior training paid off. Telegram received May 19, 1960 reads: "The ROTC unit at your institution has been selected as a military school honor ROTC unit for having maintained exceptional high standards of military training and discipline during the 1959-60 school year. The Secretary of the Army extends congratulations to your institution - Signed, Adjutant General, Department of the Army."

Cadet Humphrey promptly snaps to attention while Cadet Olmen reports as Col. Burt, followed by Maj. Timberlake, enter their room for inspection of quarters.

Relax, Humphrey! Col. Burt and Maj. Timberlake find your jump boots in tip-top condition - Don't you note the smile of approval on the inspecting officer's face?

Maj. Klusky inspects the rifle of Cadet Walk, Company B, as his platoon leader, Lt. Dohn, awaits results.

Maj. John W. Reagan, Missouri School of Mines, Rolla, the third member of the inspecting team, gives Company C a complete going over. Following him is the company's executive officer, Lt. Goode.

G.I.

The battle group staff passes in review.

The band company was not neglected - the trombone of Cadet Steinberger is one of many band instruments being well examined by Col. Burt. Capt. Tyree, commander of H Company, left and Col. Bogard, right, who are looking on, are confident that Steinberger did a thorough performance of cleaning and polishing his instrument the night before.

Inspecting cadets in rank, Maj. Reagan checks the rifle of Cadet Swanson, of Co. C. Swanson's commander, Capt. Eaves, anxiously watches.

Waiting for the attackers is a machine gun nest.

No, he did not pass out at parade - Inspectors and members of the military department are viewing a first aid demonstration.

Firing the .81 mm mortar for benefit of the inspecting team are several members of the MST-5 class. Capt. Blumhardt, Maj. Timberlake, and Capt. Duggins discuss the project with Col. Burt prior to the demonstration. Waiting to fire the weapon are Capt. Gee at left and Lt. Beelendorf at right.

Fifty cadets leave Whiteman Air Force Base, Mo., in two C-123's, furnished by the U.S. Air Force, for a trip, conducted by Maj. Timberlake and Capt. Blumhardt, to Fort Bragg, N. C.

Fort Bragg

Cadets Seki, Casey, and Hiddleston observe some knives on display in the 82nd Airborne Division Museum.

Cadets take a close look at the Honest John Rocket display.

Cadet Kent jumps from a 34-foot training tower. All cadets completed the jumps to qualify for jump diplomas and honorary memberships in the 82nd Airborne Division.

A demonstration of the 105 howitzer is presented the group.

Cadet Cowgill appears content as he enjoys a book while the group is being transported from one location to another in the Fort Bragg area. In the background may be noted Lt. Zempel and Maj. Timberlake.

The cadets do a little "double timing" as they disembark from the helicopters for a tour of Simmons Army Air Base.

COMMANDING

Cadets witness retirement review, including 4000 men of the 2nd and 3rd infantry Training Regiments.

A portion of the review.

Cadets join advanced ROTC cadets from other Missouri schools as honored guests at a banquet in the officers' club, with entertainment provided by the Post's special services.

Fort Leonard Wood Trip

Eighty-two ROTC cadets, representing MST III, IV, V and VI classes, were familiarized with army posts and army life in general in an ROTC orientation visit, sponsored by the U.S. Army, to Fort Leonard Wood, Mo. Maj. Timberlake and Capt. Blumhardt accompanied the cadets.

The group inspects the Fort's quartermaster facilities.

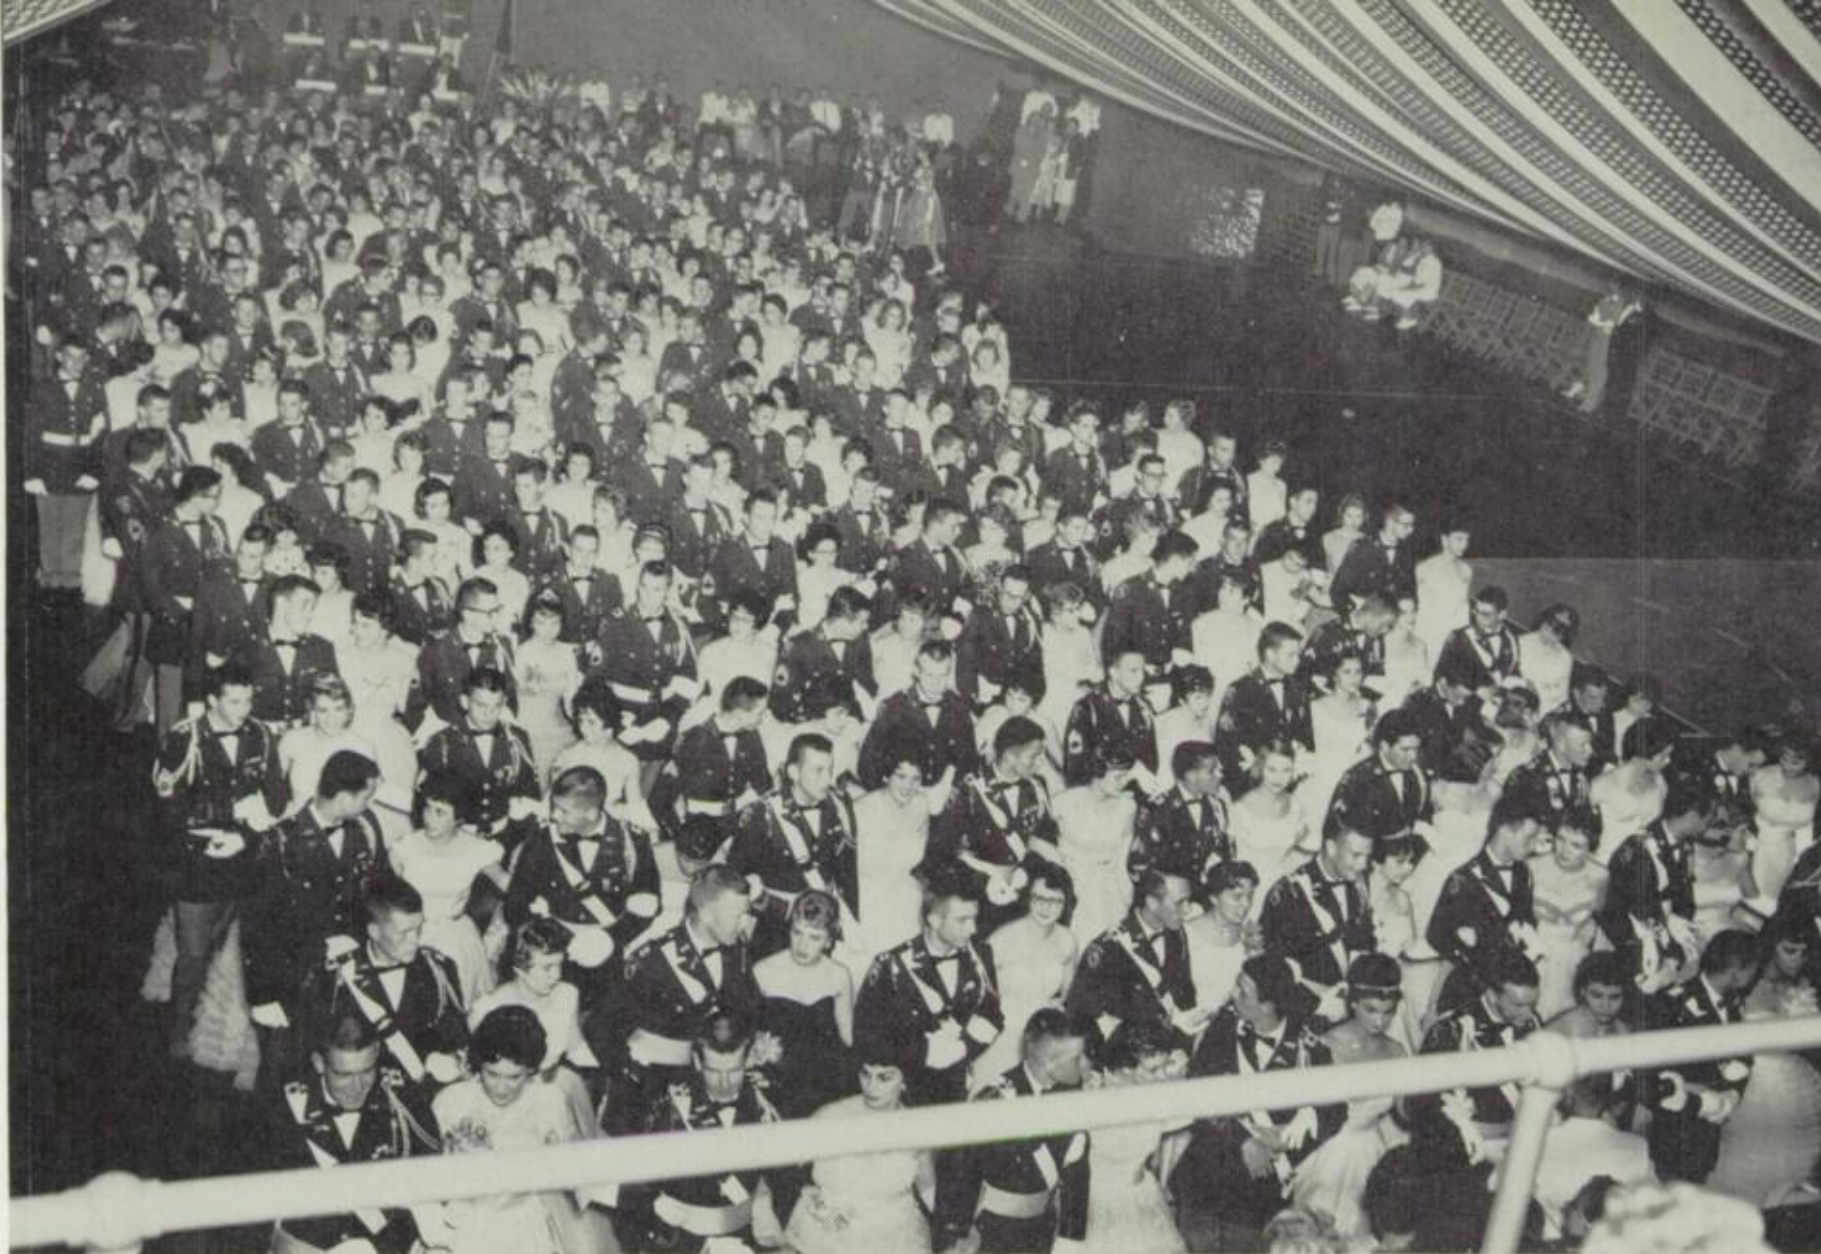

Miss Bonnie Lee Overstreet, Boonville, is commissioned the 1960 cadet honorary colonel in command of the Kemper corps of cadets during the 116th annual military ball in the Johnston Field House. Lt. Col. Bogard, battle group commander, is presenting the honorary colonel the black and gold cape and cap. Four honorary captains were commissioned. Pictured above from left to right: Miss Becky Walker, El Dorado, Ark.; Miss Mary Keller, Wichita Falls, Tex.; Miss Betty Hughes, Marked Tree, Ark., and Miss Linda Karen Graves, Marshall, Tex. Miss Overstreet was escorted by Cadet Taylor, and Misses Walker, Keller, Hughes, and Graves were escorted respectively by Cadets Flick, C. I. Wood, Payne, and Lancaster.

Military Ball

MAY 7

Miss Overstreet and Cadet Taylor are radiant as they move toward the platform for the commissioning ceremony through a saber arch formed by cadet officers and dates.

The stately and pompous grand march sets off dancing to the versatile music of the Hal Munro orchestra at the elaborate military ball.

The military ball receiving line includes President and Mrs. West and Maj. and Mrs. Timberlake, with Maj. Fivian introducing the persons to the receiving line. Cadet Levi is at left. Others in picture are J. R. Kester, Cadet Smellow, and dates.

Miss Overstreet presents awards at the review. From left to right, C. I. Wood, best drilled old boy; Orr, best drilled new boy; B. A. Strange, most soldierly new cadet, and Taylor, cadet non-commissioned officer having highest rating.

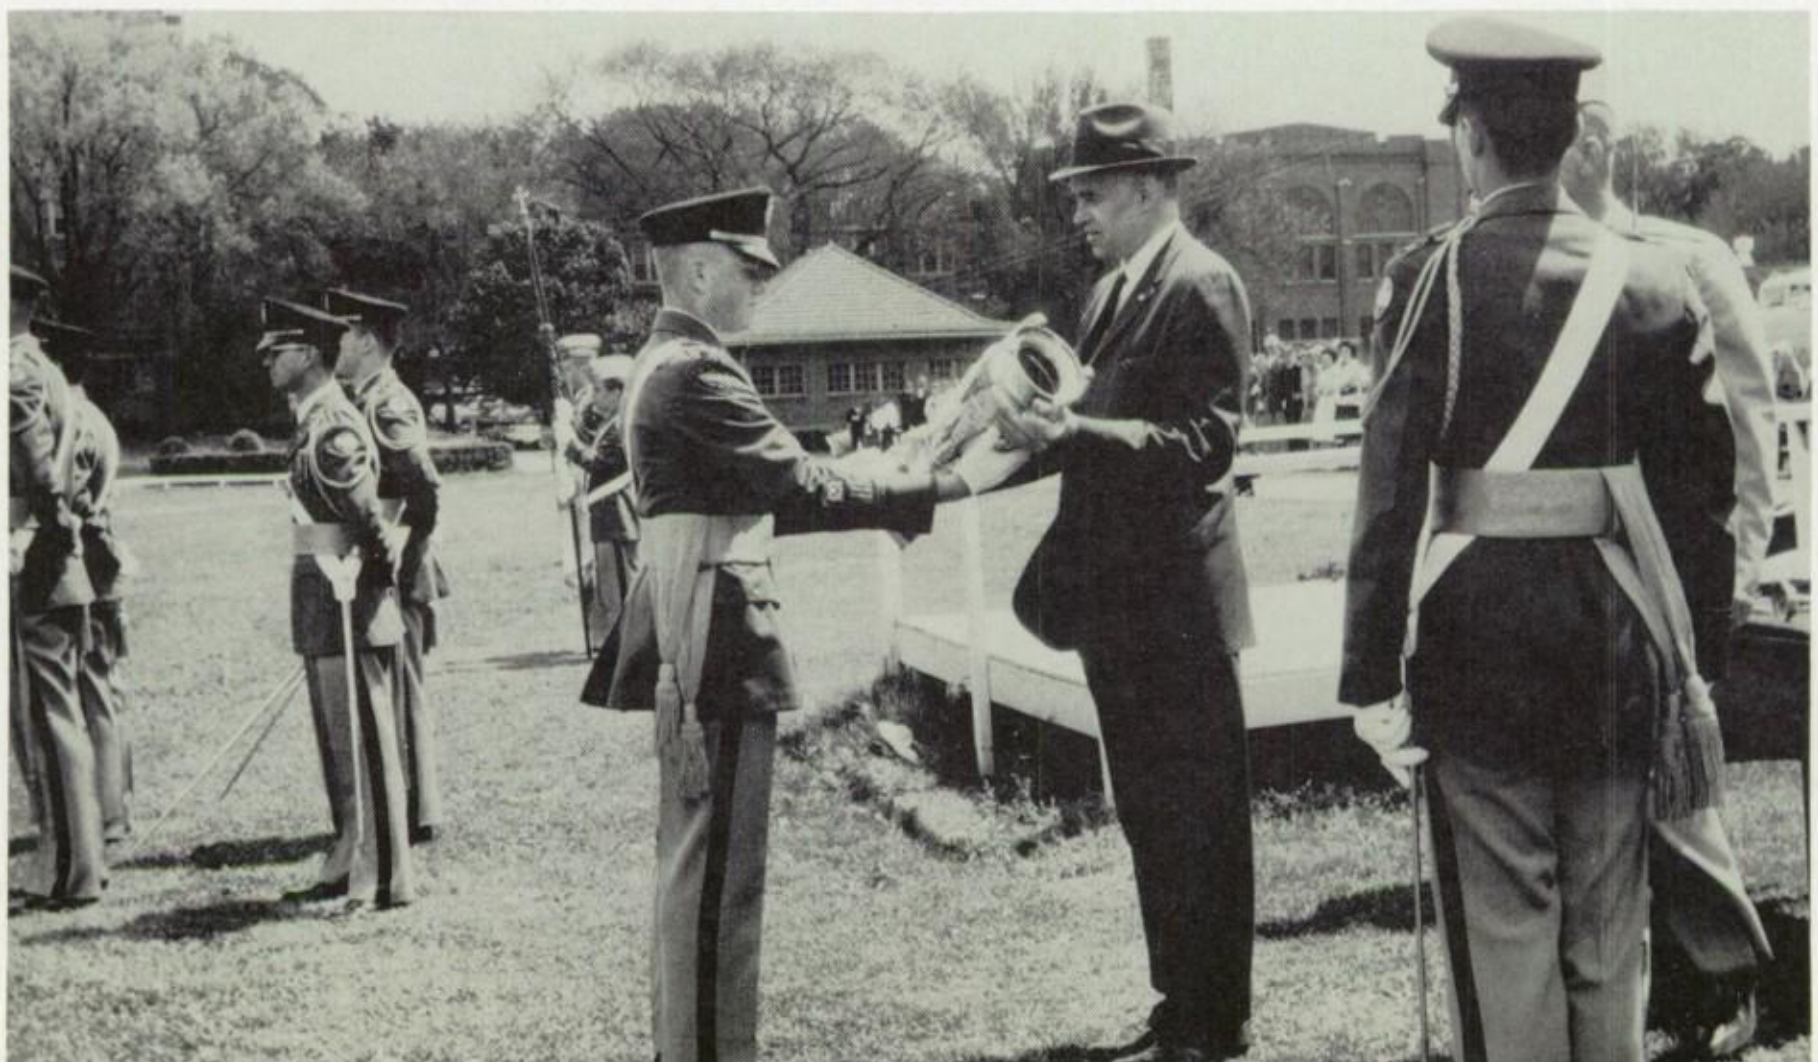

Lt. Col. Bogard and Honorary Colonel, Miss Overstreet, review the corps from an open Mercedes.

Parents' Weekend

In a military program for parents' weekend, Company C prepares to present a formal guard mount.

Capt. Lent, commander of Company B, accepts for his company the W. W. Davis trophy as his company was judged the best drilled in the corps. President West is making the presentation at the military program for parents' day.

Dances Throughout The Year

Many well planned and well attended social activities, including formal, informal, and tea dances, were on the agenda for the school year, as may be seen in pictures across the page.

The Christmas and Valentine dance motifs are accentuated by gaily colored decorations appropriate for the seasons.

An interesting Camp Perry display was featured in a Boonville business window as a special attraction noting the silver anniversary of the famed Camp Perry Rifle Meet in March. The 25th annual rifle shoot attracted 64 teams, representing universities, colleges, high schools, and military schools, in a 12-state area, the largest number of teams competing in the history of the meet - and a "bang-up" time was had by all!

The new John Browning Arms trophy is being presented the captain of the grand championship team, St. Louis University High School. Presenting the beautiful trophy are Harry E. Heiter (center) and Grant Goddard, representing the company. Maj. Timberlake, PMS, who was director of the marksmanship event, is at right.

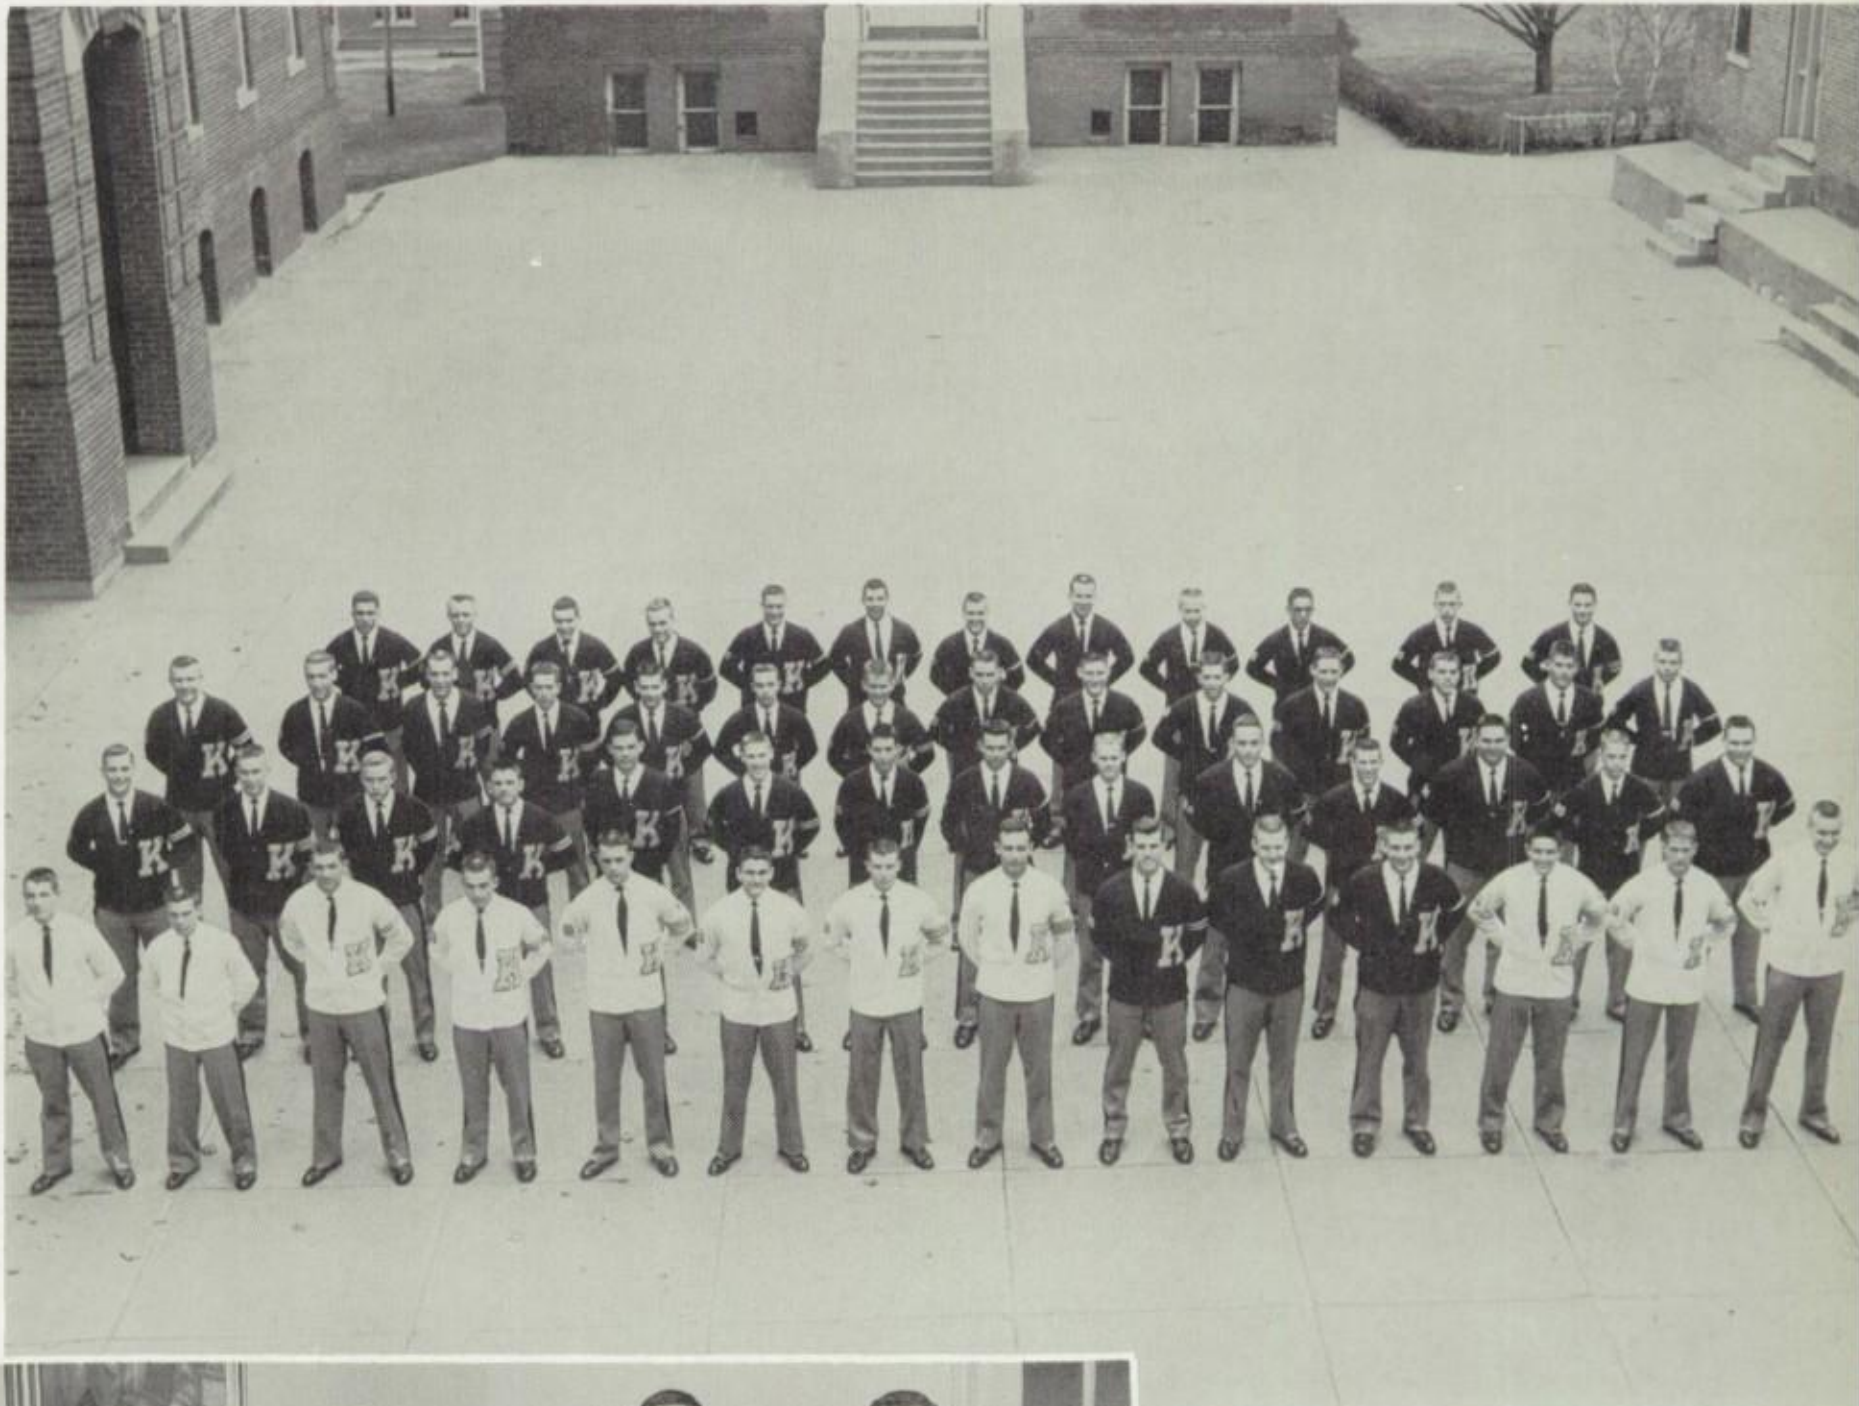

Sgt. Nichols, of the military department checks a trigger pull on Cadet Alexander's rifle, as Alexander prepares to fire for the Kemper high school team.

Lt. Huston (left) and Capt. Victor (right) were among some 45 cadets detailed to duty assignments during the three-day meet, and handled the busy detail of handling records during the event.

 I guess this is it for us so long part that least ~~with~~ we hit the an'ny. I'll never forget Thanksgiving in St. Louis, when we stayed at Mpls home, we sure did have a real blast. I'm looking forward to coming down this summer to the Swamps.
 Have loads of fun at D.S.U. next year with all those lovely girl - don't let them get in the way of school work tho. Ha! Ha!

Bodie —

Buddy, I have really enjoyed your wonderful friendship this year and will never forget
all the great times
we've had. Remember the wild foxhunts we had down in old farm-
